

I believe the do not call list should remain in effect. Just because I have a phone number does not mean I want to be bombarded with unwanted solicitations, especially when most times the solicitors do not take "no thank you" as an answer. I believe it is a good program, and should remain.